FROM: District Manager DATE: 9/21/2021

STAFF REPORT

Regular Board Meeting

TITLE: Discussion/Approval to Increase County Park Impact Fee

STAFF RECOMMENDATION: That the Board of Directors approve Resolution #14-21 to increase impact fees in Kern County jurisdiction for both single family and multifamily homes.

FISCAL IMPACT: Approval of this request will result in an increase to the existing County park impact fee in the amount of $1,118.60 per single family residential permit and $922.92 per multifamily residential permit.

BACKGROUND: TVRPD impact fees, also known as developer impact fees, park impact fees and development/developer fees, are a one-time fee imposed to generate funds for new or expanded park infrastructure required because of new residential development. They cannot be used for ongoing operations and maintenance needs. Special districts, such as TVRPD cannot directly implement an impact fee and thus, work cooperatively with the land use authorities within the jurisdiction; in our case, the City of Tehachapi and Kern County. The Mitigation Fee Act, California Government Code Section 66000-66025 codifies practices of impact fees, including the nexus or connection between impact and regulation, procedures for thorough documentation and proportionate allocations, practices for adopting and protesting impact fees and establishing the reasonable relationship between fee amount and actual impact of the associated development.

Earlier this year, I contacted NOR staff regarding increasing impact fees with the County. In March 2021 TVRPD, NOR and the other six recreation and park districts and one community service district formed a coalition aimed at a comprehensive review of both impact fee and Quimby Act ordinances and their various nuances that influence special district's ability for park development. As a result, a letter was sent to the County of Kern requesting a consideration of the request and the first meeting with Kern County Planning occurred in August 2021.

Emerging from the meeting with Kern County Planning staff was a prompt method for increasing impact fees as well as the positive reception of the review of both Quimby and impact fee ordinances as part of the County of Kern General Plan update. Future changes to the Quimby and impact fee ordinances will be brought to the County Board of Supervisors as warranted as General Plan/Master Plan updates take many months and/or years to fully realize and as nexus study and census data becomes available. To rectify the immediate request of impact fees on current development, since NOR and TVRPD have an established impact fee ordinance, Kern County Planning staff requested a resolution from each of our Board of Directors and supporting information to bring forth to the County Board of Supervisors for the impact fee increase.

Adoption of Resolution #14-21 approves staff to proceed with the Kern County Planning, Natural Resources Department, and Kern County Board of Supervisors to increase the park impact fee from $2,137 to $3,255.60 for single family and from $1,267 to $2,189.92 for multifamily.

SECTION 1: INTRODUCTION AND EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1.1 Background

The purpose of this report is to update the City of Tehachapi's (City) parks and recreation development impact fees and civic facilities development impact fees. Development impact fees are one-time fees paid by new development when building permits are issued by the City. The fees are intended to recover the capital cost of facilities needed to accommodate growth. They do not collect revenues to fund routine maintenance or operations.

The City's parks and recreation impact fee was last updated May 2006 via Resolution No. 11-06. It should be noted that the parks impact fee has two aspects – a City facilities fee paid by inside-City development and a Tehachapi Valley Regional Parks District (TVRPD) facilities fee paid by outside-City (County) development. The parks and recreation fee is charged to residential development only. Example facilities funded by the fees include playground equipment, sports fields, park restrooms, community meeting areas, and City or TVRPD staff offices. Parkland acquisition or park In-lieu fees are not considered in this report. Residential development agreements typically require builders to construct or fund local parks serving their developments. The cost of development-specific parks is not evaluated in this study.

The City's civic impact fee was last updated July 2009 via Resolution No. 24-09. The resolution allows for annual inflationary increases to the fee, although the City has never implemented such increases. The civic fee includes both City administrative facilities (such as the City Hall annex) as well as police department facilities. The civic fee is charged to both residential and commercial development.

1.2 Current Development Impact Fees

The current parks and civic impact fees are shown in Table 1. Parks and recreation fees are charged to residences and not charged to businesses. The parks impact fee is assessed on a per dwelling unit basis. Multifamily dwelling units are charged a lower fee than single family dwelling units based on lower average occupancy and thus lower average use of facilities. The civic impact fee is charged to both residential and nonresidential development. Nonresidential fee categories are divided between commercial and industrial development and are charged in increments of 1,000 square feet (sq ft). The commercial impact fee is higher than the industrial fee, reflecting a greater density of employees on average.

1.3 Legal Requirements

The Mitigation Fee Act (California Government Code Sections 66000 through 66025) describes the legal requirements pertaining to establishing impact fees (also called capacity fees or connection fees). The Act requires that for any fee to be adopted, the City must identify facilities that benefit new growth and development and determine a fair value or cost of those facilities. The cost of facilities attributable to new development must be proportional to the share of facilities the development uses. This report provides an administrative record to identify and document the facilities benefitting growth, the cost and capacity of these facilities, and the calculation of proposed impact fees based on new development's proportionate share of the costs described.

1.4 Impact Fee Study Process

The fee study process is summarized in the figure below.

Step 1 - Determine the Planning Horizon and Buildout Capacity

Estimate population and employment growth through the planning horizon

Step 2 - Determine the Cost of Facilities for Fee Recovery

Determine the cost of facilities benefiting new development that will be recovered by the fees

Step 3 - Calculate the Unit Costs of Capacity

Calculate the unit cost of capacity ($ per person) by dividing the costs indentified for fee recovery in Step 2 by the population served by those facilities identified in Step 1

Step 4 - Apply the Unit Costs to the Estimated Occupancy of New Development

Apply the unit costs of capacity to the estimated occupancy (number of people per home or number of employees per 1,000 square feet) of new development to determine equitable impact fees

1.5 Proposed Fees

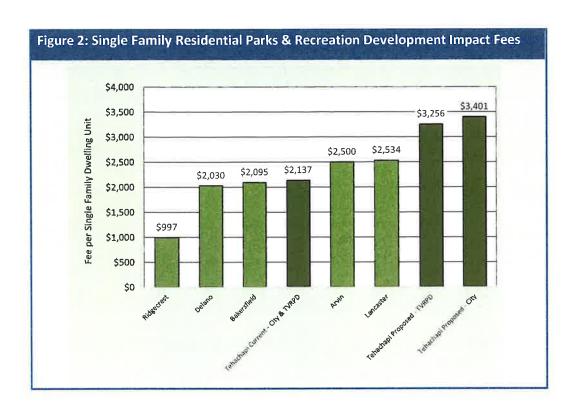

The current and proposed fees are provided in Table 2.

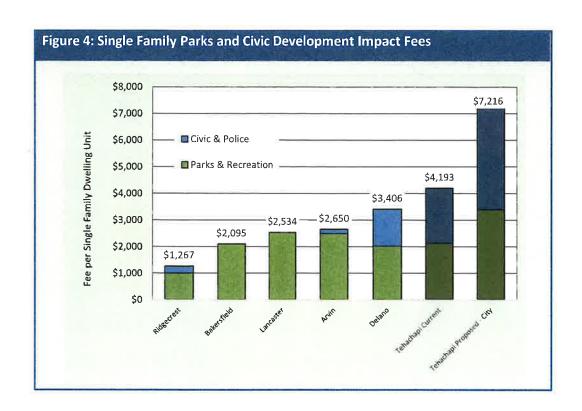

Figure 2 is a chart comparing the current and proposed single family residential parks and recreation fees with the fees charged by comparable public agencies. The Cities of California City and Shafter were surveyed but do not charge parks and recreation impact fees. The survey does not include in-lieu or parkland dedication fees. The City's current fee is in the middle range of surveyed impact fees. The proposed inside-City fee and the proposed TVRPD fee will both be in the higher range of surveyed agencies.

Figure 3 compares the City's current and proposed civic fees (including police fees) with the fees charged by other local agencies. The Cities of Bakersfield, California City, and Shafter were surveyed but do not charge civic facility impact fees. The City's current fee is in the higher range of surveyed agencies. Significant civic fees are not common in the local area; however, they are used by other agencies throughout the state.

Figure 4 is a chart comparing the combined parks and civic inside-City fees with the fees of other local agencies.

SECTION 2: LEGAL REQUIREMENTS AND METHODOLOGY

This section provides a review of the economic and legal foundations for development impact fees. The basic economic philosophy behind the imposition of development impact fees is that the costs of providing infrastructure should be paid by new development receiving the benefits of the infrastructure so that no one group subsidizes any other group (such as existing residents subsidizing improvements that only benefit new development). In establishing any fee or charge, achieving equity is one of the primary goals. In the case of development impact fees, this goal has been expressed in the form of "growth should pay for growth."

2.1 Legal Requirements

Development impact fees (also called connection fees or capacity fees) must be assessed according to the requirements laid out in the Mitigation Fee Act (California Government Code Sections 66000 through 66025). This Act lays out five major requirements for imposing impact fees. When determining fees, the City must identify and document:

- 1. The purpose of the fee.
- 2. The use of the fee (including the facilities to be financed).
- 3. A reasonable relationship between the fee's use and the type of development project on which it is imposed.
- 4. A reasonable relationship between the need for public facilities and the type of development projects on which fees are imposed.
- 5. A reasonable relationship between the amount of the fee and the cost or portion of the public facilities funded through fee revenue.

This report is intended to document and calculate the maximum justified civic and parks facilities fees according to these provisions of the Mitigation Fee Act.

2.2 Fee Methodologies

There are several industry standard methodologies for calculating impact fees for planned facilities and allocating appropriate costs to new development. The three most common methods are the buy-in method, the average cost method, and the expansion method. The expansion method was selected for most of the facility costs recovered in the fees. This method was selected because planned projects over the planning horizon are triggered by and will benefit new development. In addition to expansion project costs, the parks impact fee is proposed to recover TVRPD debt service costs for improvements at Central Park, West Park, and Brite Lake. The average cost method was selected for these improvements because they will benefit all residents (existing and growth) through 2031. The average cost method was also selected for the Events Center infrastructure because it will provide benefit to all customers through 2041.

2.2.1 Buy-in Method

The buy-in concept is most appropriate for existing infrastructure that has excess capacity to serve new connections through buildout. This method is based on the premise that new development should pay an amount equal to the investment already made by existing ratepayers in the facilities. Once a new connection has paid its fee, the new connection becomes equivalent to existing ratepayers and shares the responsibility for existing facilities via the payment of rates, usage fees, or taxes, as appropriate. The value of existing facilities is calculated using the reproduction cost new less depreciation (RCNLD) method.

2.2.2 Average Cost Method

The average cost method is used when planned facilities will benefit both new development and existing users. It is appropriate when new facility standards will surpass the standards of existing facilities and all users will share the new facilities. Under this method, impact fees are calculated based on the value of both existing and planned facilities divided by both existing and new demand.

2.2.3 Expansion Method

The expansion method is the recommended method when planned facilities will serve only new development and would not be needed absent development (i.e., the project is "triggered" by growth). This method would be appropriate for either entirely new facilities or expansions of existing facilities that are only needed due to new development. Fees are calculated based on the ratio of the cost of planned facilities that will serve new development to estimated demand or impact from new development.

SECTION 3: PLANNING HORIZON

The City has established a ten-year planning horizon for the parks and recreation development impact fee and a twenty-year planning horizon for the civic development impact fee update. Thus, this section estimates residential and commercial development through 2031 and 2041.

3.1 Population Projection

Table 3 estimates the City's and TVRPD's residential population through 2031 and Table 4 estimates the City's service population (residents and employees) through 2041. The California Department of Finance lists the City's current population as 12,758. However, this estimate includes the inmate population of the California Correctional Institution (CCI). Deducting CCI's population yields a current City population of about 9,058. The City's 2031 population is estimated at about 10,360 people based on the average annual growth rate over the past twenty years. Current 2021 population represents about 87% of the 2031 buildout population and new growth from 2021 to 2031 is estimated to represent about 13% of the buildout population. Growth through 2041 is estimated in Table 4. The City's 2041 population is estimated at about 11,660 people. New growth from 2021 to 2041 is estimated to represent about 22% of the 2041 buildout population.

The estimated service area population of the TVRPD is based on the Tehachapi Area population, excluding the CCI inmate population and the populations of Stallion Springs and Bear Valley. These excluded communities are not served by TVRPD but are located within the boundaries of the US Census's estimate of the Tehachapi Area population. The boundaries of the TVRPD are illustrated in Figure 5. TVRPD estimates its current service population at about 22,796. Excluding the City's population of 9,058 yields an estimate of 13,738 for the current outside-City population served by the TVRPD. TVRPD's 2031 outside-City service area population estimate is about 15,700.

3.2 Impact of Growth on Civic Facilities

Table 5 projects nonresidential development through 2041. From 2021 to 2041, it is estimated that employment will increase from about 3,700 to about 5,500 jobs. Table 5 also estimates the impact of growth on the City's civic facilities. To compare the relative impacts of residential and commercial development, a civic weighting factor was determined. While employees have 40 hours per working week to use civic facilities, residents have the opportunity to use civic facilities during the 128 non-working hours per week. Thus, employees are assigned a weighting factor of 0.31 (the ratio of 40 to 128 hours) due to the lower relative impact of nonresidential development on civic facilities.

3.3 Impact of Growth on Police Facilities

Table 6 estimates the impact of growth on the City's police facilities. Similar to the estimate for civic facilities, a weighting factor was used to account for the fact that residents and employees in the City do not create equal demand for City police facilities. Nonresidential development has a greater impact on police services and facilities than residential growth. The City's prior impact fee study conducted a detailed analysis of police department service calls and determined that each job created in the City results in about 3.82 times more service calls than each new City resident. Thus, nonresidential development is assessed a weighting factor of 3.82.

SECTION 4: COST OF FACILITIES

This section establishes the cost of facilities to be recovered in the development impact fees.

4.1 Cost of Parks Facilities

This impact fee update includes an analysis of both City park facility costs and TVRPD facility costs. August 2016, the TVRPD Board of Directors authorized a 15-year loan to purchase and install new playgrounds at West Park and Central Park, install a playground at Brite Lake Pavilion #1, and pour a new basketball court at West Park. These facilities will serve both existing and future residents through 2031. 12.6% of the total debt service cost (principal plus interest) over the life of the loan is allocated to growth based on the estimated population increase from 2021 to 2031 (see Table 3). It is recommended that about $94,000 in TVRPD debt service costs be recovered in the TVRPD parks and recreation impact fee, as shown in Table 7.

Table 7: TVRPD Debt Service for Facilities Parks and Civic Facilities Development Impact Fee Study City of Tehachapi

1 - 15-year loan issued by TVRPD August 15, 2016 to purchase and install new playgrounds at West Park and Central Park, install a playground at Brite Lake Pavilion #1, and pour a new basketball court at West Park

In addition to debt service, the impact fee is intended to recover the costs of expanded facilities as shown in Table 8. The City and TVRPD have identified about $10.4 million in project costs to serve growth through 2031. Projects include enhancement or expansion of facilities at Brite Lake, Central Park, Meadowbrook Park, and Warrior Park, as well as a new gymnasium. The gymnasium construction cost makes up about $7.3 million of the total project costs but is expected to be funded 90% (about $6.5 million) via a grant. The Warrior Park project will be funded by the City's impact fees. The Meadowbook Park project will be funded by TVRPD fees. The cost responsibility for the remaining projects is allocated 40% to the City's impact fees and 60% to TVRPD's impact fees. This allocation was determined because the City's current service population of 9,058 represents about 40% of the total TVRPD service population of 22,796. In total, the City's share of facility costs is about $1.7 million, TVRPD's share is about $2.2 million, and about $6.5 million is grant-funded.

4.2 Cost of Civic Facilities

The City determined project costs for civic and police facilities through 2041. While most civic facilities projects will serve expansion only, the construction of event center infrastructure will serve both existing and new residents through 2041. It is recommended that 23.6% of the project cost is allocated to growth based on the estimated civic facilities service population increase from 2021 to 2041 (see Table 5). Based on a total project cost of about $2.6 million, about $607,000 in project costs should be recovered from impact fees, as illustrated in Table 9.

Civic and police facilities total expenses to be recovered from impact fees are provided in Table 10. Expansion-related projects include a new public works building and a civic center master plan. New development's share of the event center infrastructure is included. The City also determined that about $81,000 in debt service costs for the City Hall Annex Building and about $3.0 million in debt service for the Police Department Headquarters is attributable to growth. In total, the civic facilities fee (including police facilities) is intended to recover about $6.3 million in expenses.

SECTION 5: FEE CALCULATION

This section provides the impact fee calculations. The cost of infrastructure is divided by estimated service area growth and then multiplied by average occupancy.

5.1 Parks and Recreation Fee Calculation

Table 11 provides the parks and recreation impact fee calculation. The City's share of expanded facilities costs from Table 8 is reduced by the parks impact fee fund balance of about $62,000 and divided by the City's population growth from 2021 to 2031 (from Table 3). TVRPD's share of expanded facility costs is added to the debt service calculated in Table 7 and divided by TVRPD's county service area growth. The City's impact fee is calculated as $1,223.55 per person and the TVRPD fee is $1,171.08 per person.

The cost per person is then multiplied by average occupancy to determine the total fee per dwelling unit. The California Department of Finance estimates the average home in the City houses 2.78 people, which yields a City impact fee of $3,401.47 per single family dwelling and a TVRPD fee of $3,255.60 per single family dwelling.

Typical occupancy for multifamily dwelling units was not available at the City level but is estimated at 1.87 people per home in East Kern County by the American Community Survey. The recommended multifamily parks impact fee is $2,288.04 per dwelling unit inside the City and $2,189.92 per dwelling unit for the TVRPD fee. It should be noted that the City groups all types of multifamily homes into the multifamily category, including apartments, condominiums, townhouses, duplexes, triplexes, mobile homes, RV park spaces, and accessory dwelling units. A literature review was conducted, and detailed information was not available to justify multifamily subcategories based on the type of multifamily home.

^{3 -} Taken from the 2019 American Community Survey, average occupancy for multifamily units in East Kern County is 1.87 people per home. Cityspecific data is not available.

5.2 Civic Fee Calculation

Table 12 calculates the cost per person for the civic and police components of the impact fee. The civic facility expansion cost from Table 10 is divided by the weighted population growth (residents and employees) from Table 5. The police department building debt service cost is divided by the weighted population growth from Table 6. The cost per person is then multiplied by the weighting factor. Residents have a weighting factor of 1.0 per person. Commercial development has a weighting factor of 0.31 for civic facilities and 3.82 for police facilities.

Table 13 calculates the single family and multifamily civic impact fees. The weighted cost per resident is multiplied by 2.78 occupancy for single family development and results in a fee of $3,814.32. The multifamily fee is $2,565.75 per dwelling unit based on 1.87 occupancy per multifamily unit.

Table 14 calculates the nonresidential civic impact fees. The weighted cost per employee from Table 12 is multiplied by the estimated density of employees per 1,000 square feet of development. The recommended fee is $3,631.81 per 1,000 square feet of commercial development and $1,808.11 per 1,000 square feet of industrial development.
